MISCELLANEOUS.

The Leading Scientists of To-day agree that most diseases are caused by disordered kidneys or liver. The discovery of Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure marks an era in the treatment of these diseases. It is a POSITIVE remedy for all diseases that cause pains in the lower part of the body, for torpid liver, headaches, jaundice, dizziness, gravel, fever, ague, malarial fever and all difficulties of the kidneys, liver, and urinary organs. It is an excellent and safe remedy for females during pregnancy. It will control menstruation, and is invaluable for leucorrhoea or falling of the womb. As a blood purifier it is unequalled, as it cures the organs that waste the blood.

COAST CLIPPINGS.

The output of the Ontario during April was $325,000.

The crop outlook in Merced county is most discouraging.

Mrs. A. D. Kemp was killed in San Benito county Monday by a cave in a mine.

Nicholas Penlon is on trial at Nevada City for the murder of A. G. Ladd.

During Sunday and Monday 2,000 Chinamen arrived at Victoria, B. C., from Hongkong.

During April the output of the collieries at Wilmington, B. C., aggregated 20,000 tons.

The American sealing schooner Mist has been lost on the British Columbia coast, with all on board.

Woodland is to have a foundry. Henry Perry will add it to his blacksmith and machine shop.

About four miles of the railroad extension northward from Willows, Colusa county, has been finished. The work progresses slowly.

The bee-keepers in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties say there has never been a better prospect for a large yield of honey than now exists.

An indignation meeting was held at Tombstone, A. T., yesterday, to denounce the President's proclamation in regard to the disorders in that region.

It is said that there are 18 or 19,000 coolies engaged as laborers on the Northern Pacific Railroad. When all those who have been engaged arrive, there will be about 30,000 coolies employed by the company.

Money in It.

A gentleman residing in San Joaquin county, Cal., lately purchased twelve acres of bottom land, paying therefor the sum of $300 per acre.

When questioned as to the profits he expected to receive on the investment, having planted the land in alfalfa, he replied that from the several cuttings he expected to get not less than four tons per acre, and that it was surely safe to value the hay at $6 per ton (now worth about $16). Thus the alfalfa would pay 12 per cent. a year, at $300 an acre for the land. The pasturage would pay harvesting expenses, leaving the hay crop net.

A Lucky Tramp.

The Los Angeles Herald reports the following discovery of a lucky tramp: A gentleman who came in from Calico mountains a short time ago, tells us that the richest find yet discovered in that district was made by a tramp, who in wandering about, purposely unearthed a lump of native silver.

Following up the clue, the tramp set vigorously to work, an unusual thing for one of his class, and soon uncovered a lode, which, in extent and richness, bids fair to rival the richest mines.

Value of Cigar Stumps.

An English journal suggests that somebody can make a fortune by collecting cigar stumps in London and selling them to gardeners and florists for the fumigation of greenhouses, this industry having been pursued for a considerable time in France to great profit. These unfragrant relics are collected on this side of the Atlantic that they may be rehabilitated into cigarettes, cheap cigars and smoking tobacco, and it is a cheering thing to learn that they are anywhere made to use as a cleanly and useful work.

A Profitable Experiment.

Recently near Nevada City the managers of a mine determined to discharge their fifty-two Chinese workmen getting $1.50 a day and employ in their places twenty-six white men at $3.50 a day each. The result has proved the wisdom of the change, for with half the force of men an increased amount of work has been done. The Chinamen kept only five stamps running, while the present force got out enough ore to keep ten stamps busy.

Scene of the Assassination.

Phoenix Park, in Dublin, the scene of the assassination of Lord Cavendish and Secretary Burke, contains 1,700 acres, and is said to be the largest in the world. And in Dublin, one of the most orderly and law-abiding cities, with 300,000 inhabitants, there has been but one murder in 25 years. Even this last great crime was probably not the work of residents of the city.

A Royal Feast.

According to a truthful Indiana newspaper, a hungry lion invaded a young ladies' seminary on commencement day, and, bounding in among them, carried off the prettiest and plumpest, with her composition in her pocket—a school-girl essay on kindness to animals.

The Hungry Fly.

The Hessian fly has appeared in a few places in Vallejo township in such numbers as to destroy completely whole fields of wheat. Mark Carr, four miles southeast of Petaluma, is now engaged in plowing under what a short time ago was a promising wheat field.

PRESENTMENTS.

An Investigation of the Causes of These Dark Forebodings Which Make Few Men Weary.

[Golden Rule's.]

Much apprehension has been occasioned throughout America from the announcement made by Professor Proctor that the return in 19 years of the comet of last Summer will cause the destruction of the earth. But while people are becoming so strangely exercised over this announcement, an event of far more serious importance, which is taking place to-day, seems to be almost wholly overlooked. The nature of this most vital subject can be best explained by relating the following experiences:

Bishop E. O. Haven, known to the entire land, was unaccountably awakened one night from a sound sleep, and lay awake until morning.

His mind seemed unusually active, and he not only reviewed his past life, which had been an eventful one, but laid extensive plans for the future. He did not feel especially ill, but could not account for the unusual activity of his brain, nor for the restlessness which seemed to possess him. In the morning he had but little appetite, but he was apparently well in other respects. In a few days, however, he began to feel restless and morbid, although he tried earnestly to overcome the feeling which had taken possession of him. But try as he would the shadow of some evil seemed to follow him, and he was conscious of a gradual sinking and wasting away of all his physical faculties. He had been an earnest and diligent worker, and in his last frequently over-taxed his strength, and being absorbed in his duties failed to observe the common symptoms with which he was afflicted, and thus permitted the work of destruction to go on unheeded. But the end finally came in a most peremptory manner. Shortly before his death he wrote a letter—the last one he ever indited—in which he speaks as follows: "A belief that death is near affects minds differently, but probably all who are in a fair condition of physical and mental strength instinctively shrink from it with an indefinable dread and horror. A dying man is no more able of himself to foresee his own destiny or the destiny of those he leaves than he was before he began to die."

The recent and sudden death of Hon. Clarkson N. Potter is one of the most serious warnings ever given in the long list of innumerable cases of fatal neglect. It is not sufficient to say that every other brilliant man, including Everett, Sumner, Chase, Wilson, Wood and Carpenter, were swept away by the same fatal trouble. The question is, were these men sufficiently careful of their health, and could they have been saved? The Albany Argus, in speaking of Mr. Potter's sudden illness and death, says:

"One of the physicians who attended Mr. Potter here was interviewed last evening. He stated that Mr. Potter's inability to converse had for some time served to baffle the physicians in their efforts to determine the root of his illness. It seems, however, that Mr. Potter, some two years ago, suffered a slight attack of kidney disease. Unwise dependence upon a robust constitution and naturally perfect health, and neglect of proper clothing, doubtless sowed the disease that needed but some such personal neglect as that of Tuesday morning to develop. From the symptoms at first shown, it was thought that his only trouble was nervous prostration; but his long continuance in a semi-unconscious state led to the belief that his illness was seated in a chronic difficulty more mysterious and dangerous."

Up to the latter part of last year Mr. Edward F. Rook, a member of the New York stock exchange, was doing business in Wall street, New York. He had everything to encourage him, and make life happy, but was the victim of unaccountable uneasiness. His experience as described by one who knew, was as follows: "At unexpected times, and on occasions when he had the greatest reason to feel joyous he was irritable and haunted with strange feelings of discontent. He endeavored to check these feelings and appear pleasant, but it required a great effort to do so; after which he would again relapse into his former morbid mood. This feeling continued for a number of months, when he became conscious of an added sensation of lassitude. He was tired even when resting, and although experiencing no acute pain, had dull, aching sensations in his limbs and various parts of his body. Shortly afterward his head began to ache most frequently and his stomach failed to digest properly. Being told that he was suffering from malaria he consulted an eminent physician, who informed him that his kidneys were slightly affected, and gave him medicine to restore them. But he grew worse instead of better. He then consulted other eminent doctors of another school and was informed that he had a brain difficulty somewhat in the nature of a tumor, but in spite of all efforts to the contrary he continued to grow worse. At this time his condition was terrible. What were at first simple symptoms had developed to terrible troubles. He was flushed and feverish, constantly uneasy, and yet always weary. He had an intense appetite one day and very little the next. His pulse was irregular, his breathing labored, and every moment of existence was a burden. These disastrous symptoms continued, his face and body became discolored, his heart was irregular in its action, and his breath came in short, convulsive gasps. He grew constantly worse, notwithstanding the utmost precautions of his friends, and finally died in the greatest agony. After his death an examination as to its actual cause was made, when his brain was found to be in a perfect condition, and the reason of his decease was of an entirely different nature.

The experiences which have been cited above all had a common cause and were each the result of one disease. That disease, which so desolately, yet surely removed the people above mentioned was Bright's disease of the kidneys. In the case of Mr. Rook the examination after death, while showing the brain to be in perfect condition, revealed the terrible fact that he was the victim of a slight kidney trouble, which had gone on unchecked, until it resulted in acute Bright's disease. The leading physicians and scientists of the world are fast learning that more than one half the deaths which occur are caused by this monstrous scourge. It is one of the most deceitful maladies ever known to the human race. It manifests itself by symptoms so slight and common as to seem unworthy of attention; and yet these very insignificant symptoms are the first stages of the worst complaint known in the history of the world. Thousands of people have died from troubles that are called heart disease, apoplexy, pneumonia, brain fever, and similar diseases, when it was in fact Bright's disease of the kidneys. The ravages of this disease have been greatly increased from the fact that until recent years no way was known to prevent its beginning nor check its increase when it had become once fixed upon the system. Within the past two years, however, we have learned of more than four hundred pronounced cases of Bright's disease, many of them much worse than those above described, and most of whom had been given up by prominent physicians, who have been completely cured. The means used to accomplish this end has been Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure, manufactured in Rochester, N. Y., a remedy that has won its way into the confidence of the public solely upon the remarkable merits it possesses. As a result, it is more widely used and thoroughly praised than any medicine which has ever been before the American public. Indeed there is not a drug store in the entire land where it cannot be found.

Although Bright's disease is so common in cities, it is still more prevalent in the country, where there are few physicians of any kind, and those few so unacquainted with the disease as to call it by some other name, it should rage terribly and yet unknown to those who are suffering with it. Thousands of people can look back and recall the death of friends from what was supposed to be some common complaint, when it was really Bright's disease, and no one knew it. The terrible pleuro-pneumonia, which has been so dreaded, is usually the result of uricemic or kidney poison. Lung fever can be traced to a similar source. Most cases of paralysis arise from the same difficulty, as well as innumerable fevers, lung, throat, head and bowel troubles. A vast number of ladies have suffered and died from complaints common to their sex called, perhaps, general debility, when, could the real cause have been known, it would have been found to be Bright's disease, masquerading under another name. In marked contrast to the sad cases which have been above described are the experiences of many prominent people who were as low as any of the persons mentioned, but who were remarkably restored to former health and vigor by this same remedy. Among this number are the following prominent names: Col. John C. Whitner, Atlanta, Ga.; B. F. Larrabee, Boston, Mass.; Gen. C. A. Heckman, Philadelphia, N. J.; Rev. D. D. Buck, D. D., Geneva, N. Y.; Dr. F. A. McManus, Baltimore, Md.; Edwin Fay, Davenport, Iowa; Rev. A. C. Kendrick, L. L. D., Rochester, N. Y.; J. S. Matthews, Portland, Mich.; C. W. Eastwood, N. Y.; Dr. A. A. Ramsay, Albia, Iowa; Chancellor C. N. Sims, D. D., Syracuse, N. Y.; Dr. S. P. Jones, Marietta, Wis.; T. S. Ingraham, Cleveland, O.; Elder James S. Prescott, North Union, O., who is a prominent member of the Shaker community, and many others.

To all candid minds the force of the above facts must come with special power. They show the importance of promptness and attention to the first symptoms of disordered health before disease becomes fixed and hope deferred. They show how this can successfully be done, and that the dangers which await neglect can only with difficulty be removed.

Rescued From Death.

William J. Coughlin, of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1876 I was taken with Rheumatism of the limbs followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and sleep, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lung as big as a half dollar. At one time a report went around that I was dead. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSA FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I commenced to feel better, and to-day I feel better than I have for three years past. I write this hoping some one afflicted with diseased lungs will take Dr. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSA. It is the best medicine I have ever used. CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED. I can positively say it has done more good than all the other medicines I have taken since my sickness.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Journal says: "It may be as well to state now that we are not a candidate for Congress, nor any other position in the gift of the people at this time. While we are not a mendicant for office, we might, under circumstances satisfactory, accept the nomination of our party, should the nomination be tendered, at the general request of the Republicans of the State, expressed in a convention where every element and faction of the party had full, free and fair voice and part in the proceedings, and as the choice of the party, after the fairest opportunity for the people's wishes to be made known, had been given." Bad English, but good judgment.

Coast papers appropriate editorial paragraphs from the Virginia Chronicle, without credit. The pungent expressions of our Comstock contemporary are so frequently reproduced in exchanges that one cannot help remarking how many foot-pads practice their calling on the journalistic highway.

The Carson correspondent of the Silver State is making it quite interesting for a Democratic candidate. No one seems to know who he is.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

EASTERN.

A Murderous Old Sailor.

NEW YORK, May 10.
At the boarding house of Mrs. Eli Haight, 307 West Fourteenth street, Monday night, Captain Frank B. Ames, aged 50, a prominent ship owner of Bangor, Maine, shot and killed his wife while she was sleeping and then killed himself. A daughter is on her wedding tour in Europe.

The morning papers have the following particulars of Captain Ames, who killed his wife and himself here Monday. He was owner of the ship L. J. Morse. In May, 1880, the vessel sailed for Japan, Mrs. Ames on board with her husband. On the return voyage the vessel stopped at San Francisco, and Mrs. Ames parted from her husband and went back to her home in Bangor. From San Francisco the ship went with a cargo of grain to Havre and from thence to Cardiff. After this she sailed to Japan, from there to the Philippines, where the Captain fell ill. As the result of his sickness the vessel stopped in the straits of Sunda, where he landed to take passage to Europe in a steamer. The Captain stopped a while at Singapore to undergo medical treatment and then started on his homeward journey. He arrived in this city three weeks ago.

The President Signs the Chinese Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 9.

President Arthur, having wisely concluded that there was no necessity for defending his approval of the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments to the Chinese bill on his behalf, reconsidered his intention to send an explanatory message to Congress to-day, and restricted himself to the usual form of notification that he had approved the bill. The day specified as the date of approval, thus officially communicated to Congress, is May 6, from which it appears that President Arthur signed the bill last Saturday, or post dated his approval yesterday; the effect being in either case the same, namely, to put a stop to the importation of any more Chinese laborers for ten years from and after the 4th day of next August.

A Rush to Indian Territory.

CHICAGO, May 9.

The Times special from Wichita, Kansas, says: Captain Payne and ex-Councilman Nugent of this city left this evening for Hunnewell. About thirty teams are reported by Payne to be collected at that point, loaded with supplies for the settlement, and ready to start for Oklahoma as soon as Payne joined them. The latter received a letter a few days ago which says a train of fifty wagons loaded with lumber, provisions and a printing office left that place on Wednesday for the promised land. Major Delno, a cattle man, bought last week in this city 135,000 pounds of barbed fence wire to fence in about 40,000 acres of land in Indian Territory, which he has leased from the Cherokees.

Struggling for Guileau.

WASHINGTON, May 10.

Reed resumed argument on the bill of exceptions in the Guileau case this morning. He briefly referred to the question of jurisdiction and then proceeded to discuss the evidence for the prosecution admitted at the trial and objected to by the defense, arguing especially against the evidence of Drs. Fordice and Barker.

Counsel laid special stress on the exception to the admission of Mrs. Dunmore's evidence, she having been the wife of defendant.

Reed closed with an appeal to the Court to save the land from shame and her judiciary from the disgrace of sending an insane man to the gallows.

Death of an Old Chicagoan.

CHICAGO, May 9.

John C. Newhouse, an old settler, died from hemorrhage of the brain yesterday, aged 77 years. He was born in Troy, N. Y., and has been an active politician. He was once worth half a million dollars. He lost a portion of it, and two years ago deeded his residence to his wife who, according to a story told a Tribune reporter, treated him humbly after that, allowing him only $3.50 per week for all expenses, and frequently abusing him. She gave him diminutive and unhealthy quarters and refused him a pillow.

In Memory of De Long.

NEW YORK, May 10.

Graduates of the school-ship St. Mary's during the years that the late Lieutenant De Long was executive officer, met on board the ship and passed resolutions of condolence with the country and navy in losing such an officer, and the family in losing a relative. A memorial tablet has been placed on the ship.

A Riotous Cyclone.

CHICAGO, May 10.

A Parsons, Kansas, special says: A terrible cyclone passed over McCallister, a mining settlement in Indian Territory, Monday night. The destruction of life and property was terrible; 7 people were killed outright, 4 fatally injured, 11 dangerously, and 30 (more or less) hurt; 59 houses were totally demolished and 30 others badly wrecked. The cyclone cut a path through the timber just as a scythe would mow through grass. Mound City, Mo., was also struck by the cyclone, and property was terribly torn up. The storm was the worst that ever visited that section. Trees were uprooted, fences prostrated, and crops damaged. The steeple of the Christian Church was blown down. Jacob McCan's house was blown fifteen feet from its foundation and fearfully wrecked. A carpenter-shop was lifted from its foundation. George Trooks' house was unroofed and capsize and the windows blown in.

A Presumed Swindle.

NEW YORK, May 10.

The Tribune says: Various reports have been printed to the effect that the Western Land and Live Stock Company, organized under the laws of the State of Maine, with office at 259 Washington street, Boston, had bought from the Mexican Government Guadalupe Island, off the coast of California. It was said that the company intended to till land, fish for seals and raise stock, with the expectation of realizing large profits. The company followed up this statement by putting 10,000 shares of stock on the market. Juan N. Navarro, Mexican Consul-General to the United States, says there is no proof on file at the proper office in Mexico of any transfer of the property named, and he desires to give notice that the Mexican Government will not allow any one to take possession of it until legal title is acquired.

FOREIGN.

Mutual Assistance.

LONDON, May 9.

The Standard, in a leading article, referring to the brutal ravings of O'Donovan Rossa, asks very seriously whether there is not a duty resting on the United States and a corresponding one vested in the British Government with respect to the future. It says the American police can hardly be so ingenious as they are credited with being if they are unable at a very short notice to arrest in America the ring-leaders of plots against the Queen's peace.

When the survivors of the Jeannette sailed from Constantinople, the commander of the port sent his yacht, flying the stars and stripes, up the river especially to bring them down. A complimentary address to Lieutenant Danenhower was made.

BRIDGETOWN, Ontario, May 10.

A fire broke out in Bradshaw's furniture store this morning and before it was checked twenty places of business were destroyed, including the express and postoffice, Monson Bank and the Elliott & Battery bank. Loss $300,000.

The Assassination—the Police Think they Have a Clue.

DUBLIN, May 9.

The police still think they have a clue, and follow the information of the two bicyclists named Bailey and Armon of the railway company. They state that they passed the spot where the murders were committed. One of them saw the men strike their victims, and heard Lord Cavendish cry out, "Oh, oh, you villain!" to his assailant, who then stabbed him again. Lord Cavendish fell over against the bicycle of one of the riders, who was coming to his assistance, but the murderers, with bloody knives, made toward him, and both the bicyclists thereupon made away as fast as they could. They saw the car on the road waiting orders. The driver's back was turned. They also saw one man stab Lord Cavendish in the back as he lay on the ground.

An Irishman from America has been arrested at Castle Bellingham. Two other prisoners are under remand at Monahan.

At the funeral of Burke to-day crowds of people lined the streets. Nearly all the shops were closed and mourning was worn by many people. All the newspapers are in mourning.

A man has been arrested at Limerick on suspicion of being one of the assassins. He bought a suit of clothes. While removing the old ones blood stains were observed on his shirt and trousers. Two men were arrested while loitering in Phoenix Park. The former had a dagger sheath.

A man has been arrested at Tipperary, who first gave the name of Harris and then Pierce. He declared himself a native of London, and refused to give any other information. He was remanded.

At a public meeting in Cork to-day nearly 4,000 were subscribed for the apprehension of the murderers.

The excitement has in no wise abated, and business is partly suspended. The opinion gains ground that no resident Irishmen are connected with the murder, but that O'Donovan Rossa's agents are the perpetrators of the deed. Another important link in the evidence regarding the assassins' flight is supplied to the police by a car-man who was washing his vehicle in the village of Chapelizod when a strange car dashed past, almost knocking him down. He remonstrated with the driver and the men on the car, and took good notice of the horse and vehicle, which he is positive he could identify. The car proceeded up the Inchicore road. When within a quarter of a mile of the village of Inchicore, it collided with a bread cart, the driver of which now comes forward with information which the police consider most important. He took particular notice of the men.
